

February 15, 2017

ANNOUNCEMENT NEWSFLASH

Faculty Call for Proposals

In this Issue:

- Call Detail

Rensselaer Announcement: Teaching and Learning Collaboratory Faculty Call for Proposals: Submissions Due March 15, 2017

The Office of Undergraduate Education is pleased to announce the second annual call for proposals supporting pedagogical innovation from the Rensselaer Teaching and Learning Collaboratory (TLC).

The TLC invites proposals from full time tenure track faculty members or Lecturers/Professors of Practice for piloting and assessing pedagogical innovations, especially those integrating interactive technologies into the classroom. We wish to fund seed projects that will serve as the foundation for external grant applications. Project proposals should entail the implementation of new interactive approaches, including the use of the Beta Classroom, gaming, remote laboratories, or other innovative methods.

For further information on the call and details for applying, click TLC 2017 Proposal Information.